It is 200 metres longer than the old trail. Mount Kinabalu is over 10 million years old and has the most interesting ecological trail in Malaysia. The paths from Timpohon Gate to Panalaban and the Sayat-Sayat checkpoint to the Summit remain the same. The scenery along the new trail is spectacular. There are an estimated 5,000 to 6,000 plant species, 1,000 species of orchids, 24 species of Rhododendrons and 80 montane birds that occur in Kinabalu park area and Many of these are endemic. During your climb here are some notable features not to be missed – pink flowers that flank the trail; Chirping green birds feeding on raspberries; bright orange or yellow pitcher plants near Villosa Shelter; Cute squirrels begging for food (a reminder : do not feed them); Crooked and twisted trees after the fifth kilometer. There are encounters with the Kinabalu Balsam, Mountain Black-eye, Nepenthes Villosa, Bornean Mountain Ground Squirrel and Leptospermum recurvum, all native to Borneo and not found anywhere else in the world. Climbers can usually reach Panalaban with 5 to 6 hours after 6km of hiking. If you have extra energy to spare, you can walk 100 metres to Pendant Hut at 3,289 Meters above sea level, to drop a postcard at the highest post box in Malaysia. This post box was installed on the 14th of February 2015 and certified as the Highest Post Box in Malaysia by the Malaysian Book of Records. Any mail sent from here will get a special Mount Kinabalu ink stamp. (Your friends might be happy to receive one!) Packed Lunch from Balsam Café or Rainforest Restaurant on the way

- Day 3 After a night's rest, Early Supper at Laban Rata Restaurant. Off for the final test of strength and willpower to conquer the highest peak of Malaysia. Depart at 2am and ascend slowly in the dark. The start of the new trail is a seemingly endless climb of stairs. An opportunity to admire the view of Ranau town under a starry sky. After 2 hours come to the most challenging sector; a 50-meter steep ladder followed by 600 metres of rope climbing. After Sayat-sayat, the tree line starts to vanish and arrive to a vast area of exposed granite Rockscape, scattered with summit grass. Donkey's Ear Peak lost part of its 'ear' during the earthquake on 5th of June 2015. At 6am climber stand on top of Low's Peak at 4,095.2 Metres. As you wait in the cold, dawn gradually creeps over the horizon, illuminating the darkness with the light of a new day. In clear weather, you can almost see all of Sabah spread out below. Watching sunrise at the top has been described by travelers everywhere as a life -enriching experience. Climbers descent back to the resthouse before the swirling clouds obstruct visibility. Breakfast at Laban Rata Resthouse. Then descend to Power Station and transfer to Park Headquarter for certificate. Lunch at Balsam Restaurant in Kinabalu Park. Transfer back to Kota Kinabalu town and Check in to Hotel. Overnight at Hotel. [B/L]
